Animals find home in LV Wash vegetation

The Las Vegas Wash Coordination Committee (LVWCC) is looking for volunteers to plant trees and shrubs at the Las Vegas Wash Green-Up on Saturday, Oct. 2, from noon to 4 p.m. Call 822-8584 to volunteer.

LVWCC was created to manage and protect the Las Vegas Wash, the waterway through which the Las Vegas Valley's urban flows return to Lake Mead. Its members include local, state and federal agencies, environmental groups and the business community.

During the past five years, volunteers working with the LVWCC have added more than 5,000 plants and removed approximately 500,000 pounds of trash from the environmentally sensitive area.

Log on to lvwash.org to learn more.

The Las Vegas Wash Coordination Committee (LVWCC) is looking for volunteers to plant trees and shrubs at the Las Vegas Wash Green-Up on Saturday, Oct. 2, from noon to 4 p.m. Call 822-8584 to volunteer.

The LVWCC was created to manage and protect the Las Vegas Wash, the waterway through which the Las Vegas Valley’s urban flows return to Lake Mead. Its members include local, state and federal agencies, environmental groups and the business community.

During the past five years, volunteers working with the LVWCC have added more than 5,000 plants and removed approximately 500,000 pounds of trash from the environmentally sensitive area.

Log on to lvwash.org to learn more.

The Las Vegas Wash Coordination Committee (LVWCC) is looking for volunteers to plant trees and shrubs at the Las Vegas Wash Green-Up on Saturday, Oct. 2, from noon to 4 p.m. Call 822-8584 to volunteer.

The LVWCC was created to manage and protect the Las Vegas Wash, the waterway through which the Las Vegas Valley’s urban flows return to Lake Mead. Its members include local, state and federal agencies, environmental groups and the business community.

During the past five years, volunteers working with the LVWCC have added more than 5,000 plants and removed approximately 500,000 pounds of trash from the environmentally sensitive area.

Log on to lvwash.org to learn more.

The Las Vegas Wash Coordination Committee (LVWCC) is looking for volunteers to plant trees and shrubs at the Las Vegas Wash Green-Up on Saturday, Oct. 2, from noon to 4 p.m. Call 822-8584 to volunteer.

The LVWCC was created to manage and protect the Las Vegas Wash, the waterway through which the Las Vegas Valley’s urban flows return to Lake Mead. Its members include local, state and federal agencies, environmental groups and the business community.

During the past five years, volunteers working with the LVWCC have added more than 5,000 plants and removed approximately 500,000 pounds of trash from the environmentally sensitive area.

Log on to lvwash.org to learn more.

The Las Vegas Wash Coordination Committee (LVWCC) is looking for volunteers to plant trees and shrubs at the Las Vegas Wash Green-Up on Saturday, Oct. 2, from noon to 4 p.m. Call 822-8584 to volunteer.

The LVWCC was created to manage and protect the Las Vegas Wash, the waterway through which the Las Vegas Valley’s urban flows return to Lake Mead. Its members include local, state and federal agencies, environmental groups and the business community.

During the past five years, volunteers working with the LVWCC have added more than 5,000 plants and removed approximately 500,000 pounds of trash from the environmentally sensitive area.

Log on to lvwash.org to learn more.